"I desire to say," interposed Morgan, "that the Spanish minister misquotes what I said on the floor of the senate." "That illustrates the point I desired to make," continued Chandler, proceeding to quint Senor De Lome's references to our war of the robellion. It was unseemly, he said, for the Spanish minister to have written such a communication. It could not be countenanced. This was entirely too much an attempt at outside interference or advice. He referred to the cabled utterances of Minister Castello and the President of the council of Spanish ministers.

Mr. Hale then took the floor. He was not prepared, he said, to yield one jot from the position he took yesterday sud expressed estisfaction he had heen able to obtain from an official source such a temperate reply to the inflammatory tone of the Spanish minister, who, he said, had observed all the contracties of the mmen language. Hoar expressed great surprise that the Ohio senator should object to granting usual courtest to a senator. The senator from Ohio is a man of penetration, of great edentific attainments," answered Hoar, "but I doubt whother he has so mastered science as to penetrate my brain and ascertain my motives in offering this resolution."

Hoar said his only purpose in urging this resolution was to call attention to some new practices growing up in dealing with grave foreign questions. Instead of having offective section by the legislative brauch proceeded alone in a concurrent resolution to express an infective opinion. It was all a mooted question. Let congress set with the President and let the President set with congress.

Treation and let the President act with congress.

Sherman again interrupted, but Hoar waved him selde with complasis, to the great amusement of senators and the crowided galieries. Hoar insisted on making hie explanation without interruption, to the engagestion of the Onion senator that an attack had been made on the committee on foreign relations. A very grave foreign question was before the senate. It was a question that was so grave that the senator (Morgan) who reported the Cuban resolutions, said he would lay his swo. d before the senate and Spain was at liberty to take tup. Hoar was interrupted from across the nise by Morgan.

"Will we act without information because we cannot get information?"

Questioned Hoar.

Morgan raised another laugh by asking Hoar where he got his information on which he urged such energetic action as to Armenia.

Chandler added to the annusement by reading Hoar's dispatch to Secretary Olicey as to Armenia, in which the Massachusette senator said his voice and vote could be depended on even to the extent of treating the oppressors of Armenia as pirates and onemies of the human race.

Hoar insisted that his course as to Armenia was the result of investigation.

Among the Ohio congress-nen and other prominent Republicans of that state are ex-Secretary of the Pressury Charles Foster. Governor Bushnell occupied one of the poxes.

tion, and states that at the state convention in Zanesville last year the party entered into a pledge as sacred as the triuity. That plodge marked an unportant speech in the history of Ohio Republicanism. It promised to make Bushnell governor, Foraker senator, and to use every honorable means to make McKinley President. Two parts of the trinity had been fulfilled, and the Republicans of Ohio now assembled to entersincerely into the faithful execution of the third part, the unanimous and unqualified support of McKinley for the presidential nomination.

These remarks caused such a demonstrate charge a higher and more commanding duty.

This was the carrying out of the pladges of the last State convention at Zamesville, which was unanimous in the support of Governor McKinley for the presidential monination. It was the duty of the convention to redeem that pledge as land already been done by the district and county convention held in the State. It was the duty of the convention to signify to the whole nation that Governor McKinley has now and will have at the St. Louis convention the united, hearty and unqualified support of Ohio.

The speaker wished it to be understood, however, that the preference of the united, hearty and unqualified support of Ohio.

The spacker wished it to be understood, however, that the preference of the Republicans of Ohio for Major Mickinley was in no sense hostile or antagonistic to any other man whose name is mentioned in connection with that high honor. Particular reference was made to the appreciation of Ohioans for Thomas B. Reed, Levi P. Morton, Wm. B. Allison, Matthew Stanley Quay and others. Should the St. Lonis convention declare for any of these in preference to Ohio's son, he cutel pledge to that man in advance the electoral vote of Ohio by the largest majority ever given in the history of the State.

Senator Forsker then paid a glowing tribute to Major McKinley as a neighbor, as a citizen, se a soldier, as a menther of congress, as a framer of the McKinley tariff bill and the "foremost advocate of the protective tariff," as governor of Ohio, and finally as the "ideal American stateman, the typical American leader and the veritable American idol."

In conclusion, Senator Forsker declared that other states were calling idol."

In conclusion, Senator Foraker de-clared that other states were calling upon Olito's son to accept the highest hours at the nation's gift and that Ohio could not lead the column, "All we can do," he said, "is to join the procession," Senator Foraker retired amid a storm of meeting from Tuesday to Wednesday Upon suggestion of Mr. Hodgkin it was also arranged that every alternate menting be held at 4 p.m. instead of 7.30 p.m. in order that country members may attend. It was suggested that meetinge be held twice a month, and the matter was referred to the executive committee.

The money queetion was touched lightly, and ell agreed to let it alone, It came up in this manner: President Arthur R. Briggs amounced that the New York Chamber of Commerce had declared in favor of uncomentalism and had invited all the commercial bodies in the United States to indorse the action. It was, suggested that, if the Freenothamber were practically ununionsus for or sgainst the position taken by the New York chamber, it would not be amiss to say so. But it soon became apparent that there was no unanimity. Louis Gundellinger moved that the money question be made the subject for special consideration at the next meeting, and G. H. Markham seconded the motion.

Alex Goldstein said the question is Upon suggestion of Mr. Hodgkin it was special consideration at the next meeting, and C. H. Markham seconded the motion.

Alex Goldskin said the question is one of great importance, but it was not just the thing to discuss it in a body composed of all political parties met together for business. It might lead to undearable results. It would be a wise to discuss the tariff, and that would be objected to by most of those preent.

With his vinws on the question were such that the would be periodity willing to go on record as indorzing the position taken by the New York Ohamber of Commerce, yet there are others who do not look at it as he does, and there would be no chance of coming to san agreement. Some would be of firmly fixed in their opinions that they would not give up with good grace if the inalority decided the other way. He choicely the best to let the matter slees.

Mr. Gundelfinger withdrew his motion, and Capitain Colson moved, sind it was so ordered, that the question whether the chamber should discuss the municipal presented by Colonel Travel-trial. From this order an appear at the taken to the supreme court. In its declaion that court says:

"While it is the exclusive province of the jury to find the facts, it is nevertheless one of the most important requirements of the trial judge to see to it that this function of the jury is intelligently and justly exercised. The judge has the witnesses before him and " " or equal opportunity with the jury to observe the manner of the witnesses, the character of their tentimony and to judge of their credibility and to discover their motives. He ought to be satisfied that the evidence as a whole was sufficient to custain the vertice. If he was not, it was not only the proper exercise of a legal discretion, but a daty, to grant a new trial. Nor does it affect the question that the evidence in daty, to grant a new trial. Nor does it affect the question that the evidence in the case may have a legal tendency to prove all me manyial logis, Quint is to be established beyond a reasonable doubt, and while there may be some evidence to support each fact his does not signify the conscience of the judge that a case is made which warrants conviction."

The court says further that "in the execution of that now re should always so and set the verdict aside."

We respectfully cubmit that this decision makes of a jury an expensive and useless luxury. It is a pretty play thing, the only object of which would appear to be to make the people think that the distributed that it is a present to be to make the people think appear to be to make the people that that the right of trial by their peers still remains to them. It would be bard to imagine a broader farce than this of twelve men solemnly sitting in a jury box and playing that they have to debox and playing that they have to the cide the guilt or innocence of some prisoner, while all the time one man, other than any of them, really decides the question. They must be born humorists who can play so smowing a rame and never smile at the appearant they present as they bring in a verdict which may mean something or nothing, as a judge shall decide. For it matters not though "the evidence in the case may have a legal tendency to prove all the material facts." the judge may brush it to one side, with the jury's verdict, if he so pleases. Clearly this decision is based on the supposition that the opinion of one average judge is better than that of twelve average jurors. Possibly the supposi-tion is well founded, but if this be the case, let us in consistency's name cast saids the filmsy pretence that we have jury system and leave it to our judges to directly, what they may now do by decide both law and facts of all cases. This play that we do some-thing which we do not becomes monotonous. The cause of good govern otonous. The cause of good government is not helped by such pretenses.

Withal, the play is too expensive;
more than consistency urges that we have done with it. The jury system costs the people a vest sum of money.
If it he as useful as it purports to be, then we need not stop to weigh its expense, but if it is merely a form in

The success of the Santa Cruz Penny Press has been phenomenal, and the ing the lead of those of this city who manage the county orphanage with manage the county of manage with greatest success. But the Stockton plan comprehends more than that followed in Freeno, and the good it will do, if it is the suggest which it probably will be, will be by so much increased. The worthy enterprise of the women should in every way be encouraged. An Oakland preacher is endeavoring note attendance at his church by offering a volume of poems written by himself a a prize to those who make the best record in shat respect. The echeme cannot be very consistently criticised by the press, which gives away town lots and bull calves to people who will buy papers, but it may not be out of place to d in that respect. The Sultan and porte are said to protess the greatest repugnance to the use of force to compel Armenians to em-brace the faith of Islam, but say they are unable to control the fauntical Mo-haumedans. If this is the case they had better appeal to the powers to help them control their own. An admission of helpleseness does not put a stop t horrors that are without a parallel in religious paraecution of modern times.

THE local reformers (who want to ge ack into office) are not having a great back into once) are not having a great deal to say about the fact that the late Democratic board of supervisors paid $1000 each for four pilesters in the court house construction, which will be duplicated by the present board at a cost of $60 each. An honest effort to promot coonomy should certainly find in this fact a fruitful subject for comment.

The court says further that "in the exercise of that power he should shways satisfy himself that the evidence, as whole, is sufficient to sustain the verdict found, and if in his sound judgment it does not he should understandly say to and set the verdict aside."

We respectfully solumit."

RANDOM REMARKS.

The San Francisco Call says concern-sine the Heshishurg Enterprise. "It is a mond paper, and the editor has the right stuff in him." That is all right, but wait antil the Call hears from Miss Livernash, who happens to us the "edi-trix." Him, indeed!

So we are going to have an American Salvation Army. All right; doubtless America needs salvation bindly enough. But will comebody tell in whon we are to have an American brand of Orificanity, too? When we start in the Americanize the means of grace, there should be no half way measure shoult. By the way, was Christ an American?

in such a discreditable and attogether unlawely practice. The trouble with the people ont here appears to be that there is not enough of them. We know one another too well; our social back yards are too close together. As a consequence, we have that fine haze of distance which is needed to make heroes of instance which is needed to make heroes of mortals. Our relations to one another are too much those of the vales who will not have it that his master may be a hero. Is anybody named for place? Straightway we say: "On I know him; he is the man who said or did so and so, and in deceives no proference." Of source it is wrong, but it is rather natural, too. Onlifernia is too much of a provincia ways. The condition should be changed, but how are you going to do it?

pretence of doing a thing in a certain way which in reality is done in another way, then the sconer the corpse of the jury system is buried, the better. We cannot afford to pay so much for a ghost from the past.

These remarks, it will be understood, are applicable only so far as judges really do the work which juries but pretend to do. Concerning the question whether the opinion of one judge really is better than that of twalve laymen, this, perhaps, is a point whereon judges and laymen would differ.

If the supreme court's decision is good law—i.c. if that honorable body does not reverse itself before long—this question of judges and juries and their powers will used astention from the legislature.

The Ladice Ald Society of Stockton proposes to establish in that city a home for temporarily destitute womes and orphaned children. In connection with the home will be a nursery for the children of mothers who are compelled to

The success of the Santa Cruz Penny Press has been phenomenal, and the success is only secondarily due to the nominal price of the paper. Primarily it is wrapped up in the unique personality of the editor, Phil. Francis. The proof is in every issue of the paper, and it was especially emphasized when Mr. Francis let it for a time, during which time it painfully decreased in interest and drained in patronage. Personally, I have taken much interest in observing, Mr. Francis experiment, and have viewed the result with pleasure, for in a way it demonstrates the truth of a theory to which I long have held that a newspaper may have deep-seated convictions and be perfectly open and housest in expressing shom, and still be a surcess in a business cense. I am waste that there is a largeclass of newspaper men who consider this idea an absurdity, but I think that fileir cunning over-reaches itself, for none knows better than the public when a paper into knoped, and the confidence of the public is as accessary to the success of a newspaper as to tlast of any other business enterprise. I hope to see the Penny Press continue to prosper, and I can concolive of no reason why it will not do be.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Bicycle Girl" Will be Seen at "The Bicycle Girl" Will be Seen at the Barton Thursday Evening. We are to have joly Nellie McHenry and her excellent company Thursday evening at the Barton opera house in her cyclo-comedy, "The Bicycle Girl." Nellie McHenry is a favorite comedicance, whose annual visit to this city is a course of pleasure to a vast number of her admirers. "The Bicycle Girl" is described as a cyclo-comedy, a satire on the bicycle craze and new woman insanity, and is said to be full of fun, song and dance. The farte is in three acts.

The attraction at the Barton following Relile McHenry's sugagement is Tim Murphy and his excellent company in Hoyt's ratiling comedy, "A Texas Stor," easily the brightest and best of the many comedies which this hrilliant American has brought forth from the fartile recesses of a brain that teems with original ideas, both as to lines, characters, situations, and everything that goes to make up a first-class entertainment. Tim Murphy, considered by numbers of good judges the most promising young comedien on the American stage, created and made such a decided, success of the character of Maverick Brander, the Texas cuttle king, that he is a most velcome annual visitor to all the larger cities of the United Spates. AT THE BARTON SATURDAY. is a most welcome annual visitor to the larger cities of the United States.

W. R. Logan is a young Freeno farmer.
He came down to town a few days seconal though he is too young to have the proverbial "little bunch of whiskers" on his chin, still he was sized up as legitimate spoil when he wandered into Bottle Kunig's music hall on Montgomery avenue vesteraby a sternoon. In the words of the topical song, "They didn't do a thing to him."

According to his story, he ordered a small bottle of claret. The watter, he says, demanded $20 forit, Logan wanted to compranise for $1, and the entire lores of watters, sangetresses, bouncers and hanger-on serrounded him. Festing bodily harm, he drew a six-shooter that he carried down the leg of his pants and his assailants beat a precipitate reteets.

The bankers present were T. U.

packers at the lest meeting and one submitted by the co-operatives. The following is the plan submitted by the latter through W. F. Forsey: "To the executive committee of the One Hundred Thousand club of Fresno county,

"Gentlemen:—In reply to your re-"Gentlemen:—In reply to your request to give you an outline of a plan which we believe would be acceptable to the co-operative companies, whereby a system could be inaugurated to absorbed in the control the crop of raising, and still not be injurious to the different commission packers which are now in the market, we beg to submit the following:

the market, we beg to submit the following:

"In the first place, it would be well to briefly review the situation as we find it. For instance, take a grower today, If he has a large vineyard he either hires men by the day, or lets the contract to some man, to prune his vineyard; pays him for the work done and the man has no further hold on him or his crop. Or, if he has a small vineyard; place we have been done and the man has no further hold on him or his crop. Or, if he has a small vineyard of hie own, be does his work himself. In a similar manner we would liken the pauking of raisins. For instance, a man does not care to pack his own goods individually, or to take them to any co-operative packer, so he takes them to the commission packed and them packed at a certain epectified price, and when they are packed horrows money from a central organization, if he needs it, and pays the commission packer for the work done. The commission packer for the work done. The commission packer has no further control over those goods, or like the emaller men, the co-operative companies or individuals, pack their own goods, turn them under the control of a central association, and receive credit for the sumerate of packers.

"The reason that we are willing to packers, and a received. In such a manner as this it can be readily seen that the central sesociation would control the goods roady for market without hoing in any way hampered by any act of packers.

"The reason that we are willing to packers and as a large number will be undoubtedly forced to obtain money from the commission packer from the control, will be of value to the raisin industry. And as the following plen does not in any way lajure the packing companies we are willing to do all in our power to accept the section of the growers, we believe that it is possible to accept the following plen does not in any way lajure the packing companies we are willing to do all in our power to accept the last it. wing:

Thousand Clab decide to act on our suggestion.

'In regard to the organization of the growers, we believe that it is possible to organize the growers if we can go before them with some dollning plan outlined, and assure them that under certain conditions 2 cents per pound can be obtained for the goods in the sweat box for on average crop; and we feel ever from the investigation that we have made, that, an organization would be safe in guaranteeing a price for packed goods, which would be equivalent to 2 cents a pound in the aveat box on an average crop. In other words, we ballow that it would be perfectly safe to set the price on ruisine at 2½, 3 and 4 cents for 2, 3 and 4-crown loose 5.0.b. Freeno, and we do not believe that this price would invite very much foreign computition.

"Robin Hood," America's finest whisky; imported Bushmill's Irish whisky, imported Bushmill's Irish whisky, imported Ramsey's Scotch whisky, imported Bushmill's Lishington, imported Burke's Guiness porter, the Frankfurters and all kinds of sandy with the form of the commission packer and the conjugate price for their plant; also allows them to a series of packing, and it will place their business upon a much safer foundation which is ease no reached the price of packing, and it will place their business upon a much safer foundation which is agree to such a proposition.

"If the packers are also sellers of the bard of directors, so as to take any which a low the price and inquire the prices on the file bard of the central association. Furthermore, they are association and inquire the prices on the file bard of the central association and inquire the prices on the file bard of the central association and inquire the prices on the file bard of the central association and inquire the prices on the file bard of the central association and inquire the prices on the file bard of the central association and inquire the prices on the file bard of the central association and inquire the prices on the bard of the central association and the price of the market. Having the price of the market in th amount of the goods at the prices named, less a commission for selling of five per cent, obtain from the association an order on themselves for the delivery of the goods and ship the goods required. And as all goods will be shipped i.o.b. it means that the packer, if he desires, can clear two and half per cent commission, as be will only have to pay two and half per cent in the East to the eastern broker. This will only shut out the man who has not sufficient handles and botton the necessarial translation to obtain the necessarial control of the second of the procession of the second of the process of the second of the second of the process of the second of the seco to the eastern broker. This will only shut out the man who has not sufficient flanarial standing to obtain the necessary money to pay for the code and await the arrival of the goods in the East before his draft is paid in return, so in this basis all goods would be paid for full draft against documents. The money which the association would receive for them goods would be prorated proportion to the amount of raisins that had been delivered by them at the different packing bouses within a certain time, so that each grower will get his average of the market for that time in proportion to the quantity and class of ruit that he may have delivered. And as this plan is equitable we believe that the growers will be perfectly satisfied with it.

"In regard to capital, we have been assured that we can have a million dollars if we need it, providing such an organization is formest, composed of, and controlling 90 per cent of the growers controlled in this menner, and the packers also controlled, we would place a certain value on raising, whereas today it is interly impossible to place any value whatever on any grade of raising, owing to the fact that nearly every packer has a different price. Such a plan as this would meet with our indorement and co-operation, but we are not prepared to join a corporation while the control is in the hands of the commission packers, as we believe that it will be possible by guaranteeing that the One Hundred Thousand Cube of Fresno may outline some such plan as above sugaested, and we believe that it will be possible by guaranteeing that the One Hundred Thousand Cube of Fresno may outline some such plan as above outlined.

The Thimble Club is an organization meet regularly every weak for the pur

The meetings of the Tulmble Club are always secret, and it takes several weeks to ascertain what occurred there. The roung loiltes wish to have their discutsions absolutely secret.

But for the past several meetings the Thimble Club has devoted itself to business, the substance of which, like Banquo's ghost, will not down. The secrets have leaked out, but of course it is a mystery who gave them away.

At the last few meetings the young addies have been discussing the gentlemen. The eociety favorites have been thoroughly dissected in reference to their worth, character and other qualities. Conclusions, both flovorable and unfavorable, have been reached in many cares. It was decided to make a "perlor favorite" of one young man, but to absolve him from all sociability teteatets. In another case it was recoived that a young man lacked brain-liseae, and that he should be so treated by the members of the olth. Another young gentleman was deemed worthy of more attentions than had been shown him, and that a warm reception should be leadered him wherever found in society.

Thomas H. Lynch was the subject for the business of an entite meeting of the club. His dash was highly extelled. The club was unanimous in the opinion that he is a model young man. Ills coldness towards society, which has grawn on him during the pest year, was anxiously inquired into. No one was able to explain it.

"Our Billy" Foota, who arrived only a fow months ago and who has established himself as a leader in society of Freeno in a remarkably short time, was also discussed. It was recolved that his a geltant young man, and worthy of all emeoutragement.

G. D. Tacker caused considerable argument. Some depreciated his spirited way of danding, while othere contended that it was evidence of a lively and jovial nature. It was generally conceded that he is very handsome, and a ripaper person to mingle in society."

Captain George W. Jones, it was unanimously agreed, is the handsometiman in Fresno. He trims his whiskers just as all men should do, and has a fine military carriage. The Captain's bashfunes, was the cause for considerable supplementary discussion. His aversion to society was asceribed to bashf to take her to the next cance of two cotillion cube, if he can't dance he will be taught.

Stoney Ashman was another subject for argument. His age, was the main lessue. One young hady asserted that he must be at least 38. Another said that he is only 23. No positive information was at hand and the important question was decided by his looks. It was re-solved that Stoney ought to be thinking, of matrimony.

Clarence Freman and Clarence Vin-sent were discussed as a pair. Both were considered lovely society men, both heing just modest onough to win admiration.

Ed White was the subject for a de-bute. Soon maintaled that he has a brilliant conversationalist than unything class.

Frank Helm was considered one of the nicest young gentlemen in Fresno. The fact that he is a full fledged banker was not lost slight of.
Of the "younger set." Wick and Monte Parsone, Frank Homan, Low Smith and Hal Freman were adjudged promising favorites. Law is already guite a society man, while Frank's inclination to look toward Sacramento was not well spoken of from a Fresno young lady's standpoint.

Shrubbery Planted-Those . Who Did It.

Bitt under the exicting conditions I think that the packers' plan is the hetter."

Mr. Brigge stated that the main issue was the central committee which is to have charge of selling the raisins. He could not see why this should cause any serious disagrecement. He was willing to sulmit the controlling of the disposition of the raisins to a committee of any representative business men whose interests are identified with the growers.

Mr. White here addressed the club again and stated that an organization of the packers is an impossibility. They are largely controlled in regard to finance by the Eastern packers, he said.

This was positively decided by John D. Gray and A. L. Hobbs. The packers themselves say they can form an organization and secure sufficient capital. There was further discussion, participated in by members of the club, it was then noved and carried that a committee of two bappointed to formulate a plan with a view of securing an agreement between the commission and comparative packers. When this plan is formulated the committee is to have a conference with a similar committee.

The Marriage of Two Popular Young People.

A presty home wedding took place Monday morning at 70 clock at the resi-dence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. McDonald, 826 P street. Miss Claretha Maud McDonaid of this city and Captain Charles C. Manter of Port Townsend, Washington, were married by Rev, Seward. The floral decorations were beautiful. There was a canopy of palms with emiliax, feaching from the celling and trailing gracefully down to north wall to the floor, disclosing through the smilex glimpees of the plate-glass mirror. Under this canopy stood the bridal party.

Luring the ceremony the music, "Songe Without Words" was played by L. L. Kittrell. Following the congratulations a tumptuous wedding breaklass was served. Miss Garetha Maud McDonald of thi

It has been proved that a small crowd of men with shotgons can kill lots of rabbits that are doing great damage to the growing crops. It seems to be an effectual way of destroying the part, but it is most certainly a very dangerous way. Men soon become very careless, and unless the marchalu are strict, accidents are liable to happen any time by carelessly haudling a gin.

It is reported that a number of successive drives are to take place in this victnity this month.

JAMESON ON TRIAL.

MADE A SPRECH TO THE TROOP AT PITSANIPILOGO

And Read a Letter Requesting As sistance for the People of Johannesburg.

LONDON, March 10.—There was a large 1.6Non, March 10.—There was targe crowd about the Boat street police court today, the occasion being the formal ar-raignment of Dr. Leander I. Jameson, Major John Willoughby and twelve other Transvaal filibusters, charged with violating the foreign culistment act passed in 1870: "To regulate the comduct of Her Mnjesty's subjects during the existence of hostilities between for nign states with which Her Majesty is at eign states with which Her Majesty is at peace."

Sir Richard Webster opened for the Grown. He dwelt in forcible language myon the gravity of the charge sgainst the prisoners, contending that the prisoners, contending that the prisoners, contending that the prisoners, contending that the prisoners are contending that the prisoners are made at the meaning of the forcign enlistment act and holding that Bechnanaland, whence most of Jameson's troops came, was undoubtedly a part of the British dominions.

Captain Smith of the Bechnanaland police, testified that Dr. Jameson made a speech to the troops at Pitesniphogo on December 29th, and read them a letter signed by Mesers, Hammond, Farrar, Phillipps and Leonard of Johannerburg, who, it was claimed, were in danger from the threatening attitude of the Boers.

According to Corporal Smith Dr. Jameson told the troops that he did not believe a shot would be free. Later ammunition and rations were served out and the troops started on the march acrose the tromiter of the Transvaal.

UNITED STATES VS. SPAIN

UNITED STATES VS. SPAIN Is the Title of a Pamphlet Published in Madrid.

Madrid, March 10.—A pamphlet has been published here entitled "The United States vs. Spain," which is believed to have been written by ex-Minister Valera. It points out the alleged injustice of congress, and the writer says he believes there will be a revolution of public opinion in the United States as soon as the truth is known. He regards the situation from an optimistic stundpoint, cologized American women and says that the men are hospitable to strangers, when not blinded by self esteem.

by self esteem.

A dispatch from Barcelona says that, he merchants of that city have agreed to to self American products in the syent of Cleviana approving the Cuban also opened a subscription toward a fond which is to be devoted to the purchase which is to be detected to the constant of warships.

The Carliet fetes passed off without any incident worthy of note.

SUPPORT FOR SPAIN.

Newspapers Said to Condemn the United States Policy. MADRID, March 10.—The Heraldy today publishes telegrams eaying that the newspapers of Chili and Maxleo support Spain and condemn the "absorbing and ineering policy of the United States. Owing to the publication of an unfounded report that the United States minister, Mr. Hannis Taylor, was leaving Madrid, Mrs. Taylor has abandoned her proposed trip to Biarritz for fear that a tale interpretation might be placed upen her absence from this city.

KOKOMO, Ind., March 10.—The Elev-pth district Republican convention, enth district Republican convention, the first to meet in the state, remoninated Congressum George W. Steele. Resolutions were reported indorsing the Republican national platform of 1993, and pronouncing for gold and silver of equal value as money. The principle of protention was indorsed. The convention indorsed McKinley for President.

The Prussian peasure poetess Johan na Ambrosine will soon be anabled to have her small house, which threatened to collapse, repaired. A subscription and several entertainments held for he benefit realized almost 7,500 marks. Originally it was proposed to build a new and modest but solid building for Fran Ambrosins, but this intention was abandened upon the argent request of the poetess herself. She does not wish anything for herself, she says, and her greatest desire is to have her two children enter the world under more faverable conditions than foll to her in her own private life. She will, therefore, be satisfied to have the chatched straw roof on her present small hamestead simply repaired. This will take but a Johanna Ambroslus.

be satisfied to have the thriched straw roof on her present small immercial simply repaired. This will take but a comparatively trifling amount of the sun raised for her, while she will invest the balance in a way to have a little fund for a rainy day and fer the future education of her children. The committee having the funds collected in charge decided to agree to this manelish and reasonable request of the peasant poetess.

She Attracts Dires.

Among the many peculiarities of that beautiful woman the empress of Aus-trin one of the most romantic features of the present ern is her atrange influ-ence over birds, which, were she of ence over birds, which, were she o more humble rank, might prove a per fect gold mine to her. This power, nor or heretofore described in print, i known to few outside the court circle of Austria-Hungary, yet nothing is more wonderful than to see the birds flocking wonderful than to see the birds flocking from every quarter around the empress the very moment site sels fact in the gardens of Lainz or Schoenbrun, but expecially at the latter place. There are many ornamental pieces of water at Schoenbrun, and all sorts of valuable birds, such as Australian aways. Chinese ducks, Tibetan phensants and birds of paradise, are permitted to roam at will through this splendid domain. They all know the empress and are subject to her power, as are also the wild birds, oven down to the ordinary sparrow. They gather around her, each uttering its own peculiar cry, while the pigeors and smaller birds alight on her shoulder and arms.—San Francisco Cironicle.

Ocrean Women Agitatiog.

A great agitation is, a Berlin correspondent says, being carried an among women in Germany, having for its object the issuing of a general protest against different clauses of the new civic code which has just been submitted to the reliability. As regards the civil law, women in Germany, have eccupied a rather inferior position, and the hopes that the new code would redross their grievances have proved fullacious. A married woman, for instance, has, if no special contract has bean made, no right to dispose of her own fortune without the permission of her lusband. Moreover, the latter is solely entitled to administrate and to have the usefrace the money, even of that which she carries. Every financial transaction enforcing and cament of her husband can be encoded. Except in a few cases, women are unable to actus guardians. They are also account of the mily councils and so on. All this has led to a petition to parliament, but it is doubtful whether it has much clause of being accepted. Corman Women Agitating.

THE GREAT EMERGENCY MAN

The Peculiar Status of the Vice-Pr of the United States. of the United States.

The vice presidency is essentially an office of dignity. No other office under the government has such lofty possibilities for its occupant, while at the same time being so ulterly berofe at influence of the to wield patronage or to affect leavishation. legislation.
The vice presidency requires a mar fitted to fill the highest office under the Committees, and in the presentatives of the party in the formatice of the house of the caucuse of the house of the caucuse of the house of the president of the party in the party in the president, and the party in the party in

of the official duties of the president, the vice president is free to entertain or not, as he sees fit.

The duties of the vice president do not require him to born any midnight oil in the consideration of public questions. He has ample opportunity to keep himself informed on all matters that come before congress by being a good listence, and in his no occasion to prepare any speech for delivery in the senate. He is relived from all committee work of course, and oven the task of presiding over the senate is rendered in may one because of the fact that that body is a very doolle one to govern and is not fraught with the porplexing parliumentary problems that are constantly occurring in the homes of representatives. The fact that the senate is an largely run by "courtesy" makes it an easy body to preside over.

Perhaps no man connected with the United States senate is so apt to be bored as is the vice president. Without power to influence logislation, life office houg such that even any suggestion from him would be apt to be regarded as an unwarranted interference, he is yet obliged to attend the seasons of the senate daily, and to recognize this or that one who happens to have a bill to present or a suggestion to make.

senato daily, and to recognize this or that one who happens to have a bill to present or a suggestion to make.

From 12 until 2 o'clock is known in the senate as "the merning boar," and during that time all the business of introducing bills, making reports from committees, presenting potitious and resmortalis, etc., is done. The vice president is sedden absent from the chair during the "morning heur," but when that expires the "regular business" is taken up, which practically means a continention of speaking on the pending bill. Then the vice president has an opportunity to leave the seantle, which he does if there is not in prospect some very interesting debate which he wishes to hear. He requently holds a reception, for his friends know the hear when he is at leisme and our see them. He generally is one hand when the seante adjourns, and then he has nothing in the nature of official daties to occupy his attention until the day on which the secate is next to meet.—Washington Star.

The Life of a Salmen.

Enturing rivers to apawn, going down to the sea and re-enturing the rivers constitutes shortly the life history of the salmon. Speaking generally, it feeds to little in fresh water, and loses weight. In the sea it fonds raveneously and incremes at a most remarkable rate. One Bertish killed salmon has attained to 70 punds in weight and 4½ feet in length. This fish was taken in the Tay, and a cast of it is now in the Beckland museum. Although this was a monster fish, almost without precedent, yet 40 pound submen are not at all uncommon. In rivers the foud of the salmon consists mainly of ephemero and their larve, worms, and the spawn and fry of various fresh water fishes. In the sea its food is more varied and abundant, Salmon are invariably found in the proximity of shrimp grounds,
